Let's explain the India-Pakistan conflicts with a dog story!

Imagine two big dog parks.

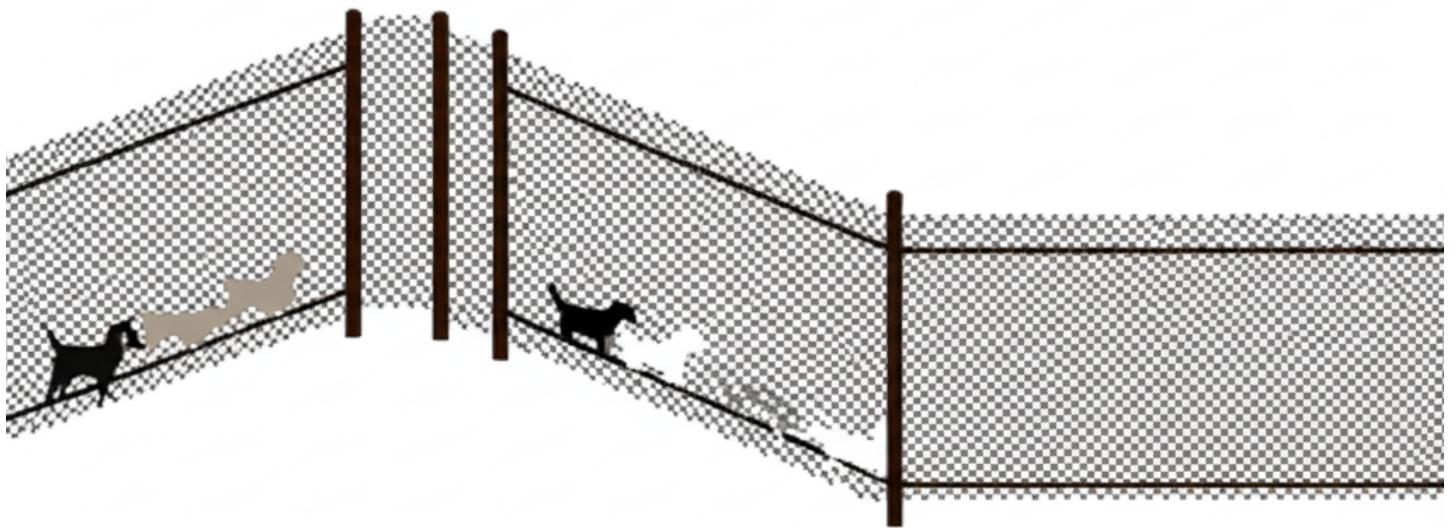

The other park has tan and white dogs.

There's a long fence between them.

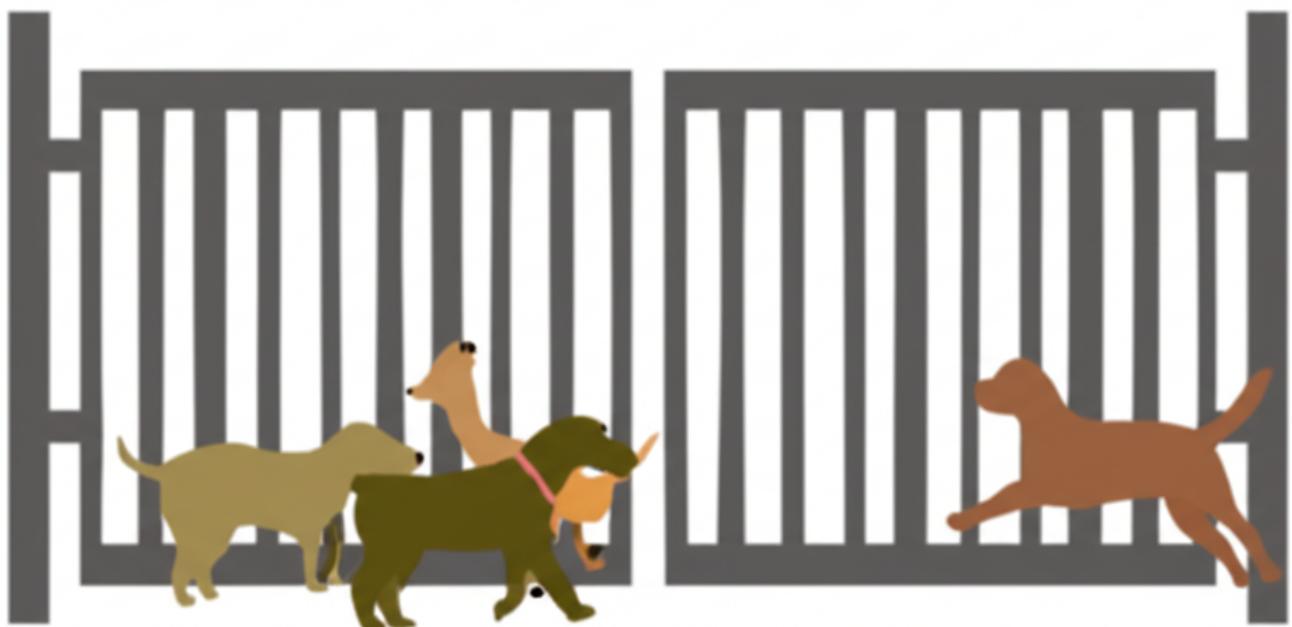

Some grey and spotted dogs live right by the fence.

The brown and black dogs argue about those grey dogs.

The tan and white dogs also have opinions.

Sometimes, a little brown dog sneaks under the fence.

This makes the tan and white dogs bark a lot.

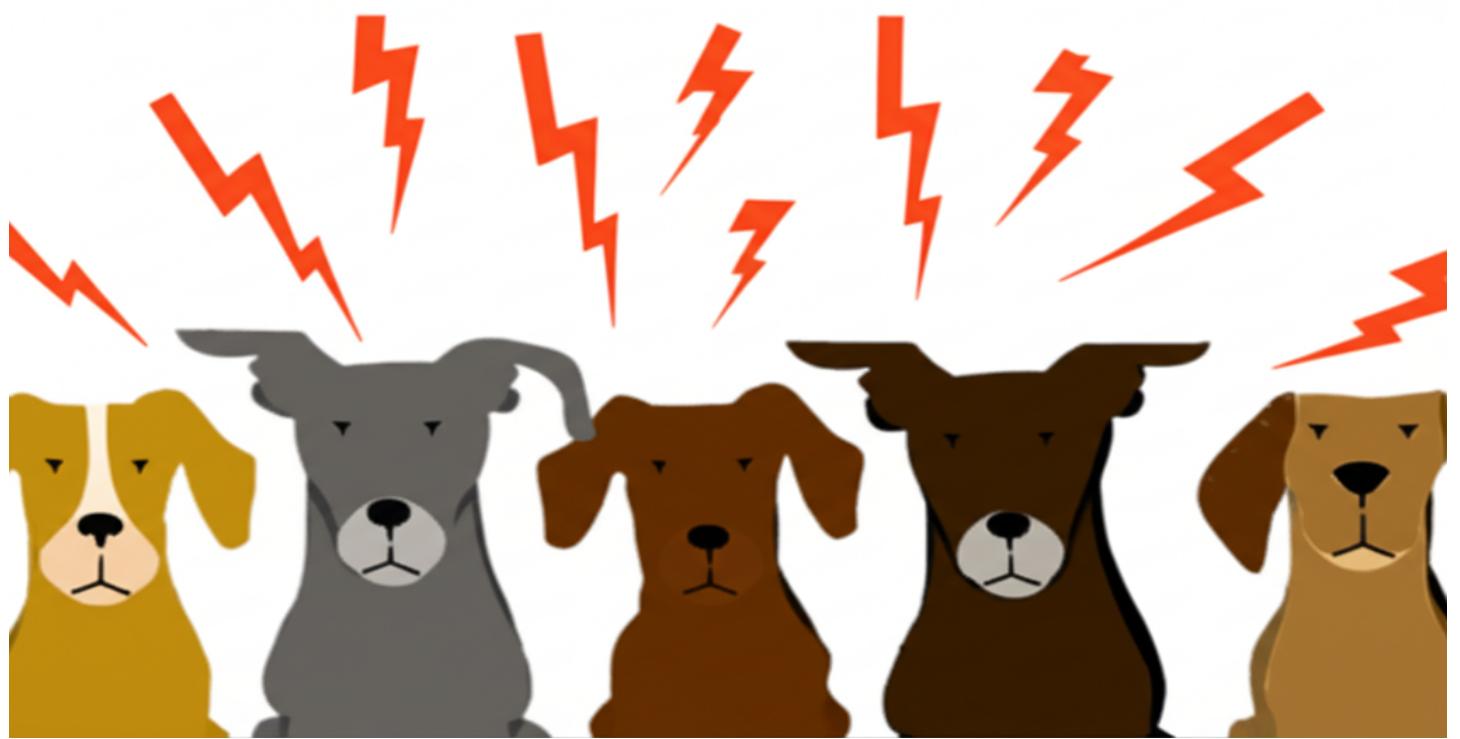

The brown and black dogs get angry too.

They all have strong feelings about their parks.

Sometimes, they bark and show their teeth at the fence.

Everyone hopes the dogs can eventually be calmer.
